abortion: deliberate killing of an unborn

what is an unborn?

→ embryology (study of the unborn)

unborn: distinct, whole, living human being from the earliest stages of development.

How do we determine the value of these human beings?

Compare the unborn to someone of known value: us

There are only 4 differences between us and the unborn:

S	L	E	D	} do any of these differences change a human's right to life?

(therefore) \therefore the unborn should have the same rights to life as us, and abortion is murder.

Since 1973, 60 million unborn human beings have been murdered in the U.S.

Why?

A) it's better for the baby

response: this is not a sufficient reason to kill someone

B) mom / family is not able to pay/care for the baby
